British Also Attack in Resistance to German Pressure

Rommel's Tank Thrust Is Reported To Have Been Stopped

By STEPHEN BARBER
CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 2 (AP)—American and Allied planes and British guns heavily bombed and shelled Axis forces in the western desert today and so effective was their resistance to Axis pressure that the British commander declared the organized defense areas still were holding.

As the desert artillery kept up steady cannonading on the southern, and most critical, part of the front and Allied planes shuttled on bomb missions over the battlefield, Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery, field commander, said:

"In no part of the front has the enemy penetrated our organized defense areas."

Planes were carrying a heavy share of the fighting, both on the principal battlefield and in auxiliary fields supplying the Axis troops at the front.

Attack Axis Convoy

Heavy bombers of the United States air forces attacked shipping in the eastern Mediterranean yesterday, hitting one vessel and almost hitting four others in a convoy; and hitting four ships and possibly a fifth in a raid on Candia, Crete, link in the Axis supply chain.

United States army air force fighters returned to their bases tonight after completing the heaviest day since they entered the battle in this area. They flew as escorts to bombers, and did not lose any planes.

The accurate bombing of the RAF planes the Americans were helping protect on forays behind the El Alamein front drew high praise from Brig. Gen. Aubrey Strickland, commander of the American fighters in this area.

The RAF last night raided Tobruk and, with the help of naval planes, blew up an enemy ammunition dump near the Qattara depression, on which the southern end of the front is based.

Repet Rommel's Tanks

Advanced ground elements met the thrust of Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's tanks on the southern rim of the bottleneck between the Qattara depression and the sea. The El Alamein front on the north was, on the whole, quiet.

The Axis armor was reported concentrated between El Himeimat, a 600-foot sentinel hill near the northeast tip of the depression, and the ridge of El Ruweisat, a dozen miles northward.

The main battle zone lay in the lower ground between these two elevations, with Rommel's progress having tended to swing the lines toward a northwest-southeast direction, although the course of the conflict remained unclear.

Knox Discusses Submarine Menace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today he believed the submarine menace could be reduced to the point where it would not "interfere with victory in the war."

At a press conference—his first in Washington in almost five months—Knox noted that there had been a "steady diminution of the number of ships sunk along our shores" but that "when you make it tough for the submarines they simply hunt themselves another scene of operations."

"This thing is not by any means solved," he added. "It is a long job and we may never lick it completely, but I believe we can reduce it substantially so that it will not interfere with victory in the war."

British Defenders of Egypt Hold Lines on Third Day of Axis Drive

By EDWARD KENNEDY
AT GENERAL MONTGOMERY'S SECRET HEADQUARTERS IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Sept. 2 (AP)—The British defenses of Egypt remain secure late on this third day of the Axis offensive, but the real battle has not yet been joined.

Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of the British Eighth army in the field, said that "in no place and in no part of the Eighth army area have the enemy penetrated our organized defense area."

It was Marshal Erwin Rommel's intention to do so, he has not done to this moment. (4 p. m.—10 a. m. eastern war time).

Though Marshal Rommel's armor columns have moved some miles since early Monday, the enemy has

MacARTHUR'S BOMBERS ATTACK JAPANESE AIRDROME AT BUKA

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Tuesday, Sept. 2 (AP)—Allied bombers of Gen. MacArthur's command made a heavy attack on the Japanese airdrome at Buka, at the northern tip of the Solomon Islands, in a night raid last night, unloading five tons of bombs along the runway and upon enemy installations, it was announced today.

A Japanese destroyer was attacked, but results were not learned immediately, the daily headquarters communiqué stated.

New Guinea again received a major share of the Allies' attention, but ground fighting was confined to isolated Japanese remnants in the Milne bay area at the extreme southeastern tip of the big island guarding the northern approaches to Australia itself.

At Kokoda, inland point where a Japanese spearhead has reached in an overland drive toward the big allied base of Port Moresby, Allied fighters and attack bombers made four bombing and strafing raids on Japanese positions and lines of communication.

The daily bulletin specifically mentioned that there was no ground fighting here, where yesterday bitter combats were waged after the Japanese reinforced their units.

The Allied bombers also made a strong raid on the big Japanese air base at Lae, on the north coast of New Guinea.

Today's daily communiqué said: "Northwestern sector: Lae: Allied medium bombers effectively attacked enemy airdrome installations. All bombs fell in the target area. There was no interception."

"Kokoda: Our fighters and attack bombers executed four bombing and strafing raids against enemy positions and lines of communication. There was no ground fighting."

"Buka: Solomons: In a night attack Allied aircraft heavily bombed the airdrome runway and installations. Five tons of bombs fell in the target area. An enemy destroyer was attacked with unknown results."

"Milne Bay: Our forces continued to round up isolated enemy detachments in the jungle."

$24,753.23 Tax Lien Against Tony Martin

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2 (AP)—The federal government today named Tony Martin, former radio and movie crooner now a chief specialist in the navy, in an income tax lien for $24,753.23 additional on his 1941 earnings.

Collector Nat Rogan said that while Martin is in the navy the matter will not be pressed until the singer, whose present salary is $125 a month, volunteers to have it adjudicated.

as yet run into no major allied formations.

The German army has traversed a stove-pipe shaped avenue, first eastward, and then to the north.

The enemy forces have lost some tanks in fighting this far.

The first three days of the offensive thus have been spent in getting into position for a big battle rather than in fighting.

On this side, the soldiers are waiting confidently for its start, determined that the invaders shall not pass.

Air activity has been the Allies' usual effort increased to even greater proportions today as dust storms gave away to an exceptionally clear day which enabled bombers to crack at targets almost hourly throughout the day.

Moonshiner Trying To Rent Still until He Returns from War

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 2 (AP)—Officers who raided a still near Barnwell last week found this weatherbeaten sign nailed to a nearby tree:

"Due to the sugar shortage, this still is for rent for the duration of the war; we're heading for the army."

Russian Girl's Sniping Record Widely Approved

Lieutenant Who Killed 309 Germans Steals Capital Show

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—The trigger finger of the Red army girl-sniper, credited by the Soviet military authorities with death of 309 Germans, today was decorated with bright pink nail polish—a fashion adopted since her arrival last Thursday. She had also powdered her nose.

This feminine sprucing-up was noted when Senior Lieut. Liudmila Pavlichenko arrived at the opening of the international student assembly to steal the show from men in uniform and become the stellar attraction about 365 student-delegates, representing fifty-six nations, including the anti-Fascist movements of Germany, Italy and Japan.

Popular with Men
Men wanted to meet her—this attractive 26-year-old Kiev University student who set out to be a history scholar and has now become a modern military legend. Men in uniform accepted her. Through an interpreter they swapped experiences. Her brown eyes brightened as she talked.

Girls crowded around, too. One wanted to know: "How does she keep that beautiful complexion?" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

School Situation Much Changed on Account of War

Many New Faces Noted among Both Pupils and Teachers

(By The Associated Press)
Maryland kids are off to school again. Some of them are already there and the rest will be very shortly.

It sounds like the same old story, and it is—with certain exceptions:

1. They're likely to find a lot of new faces among their teachers.
  2. Some of them may have to walk instead of riding in a school bus.
  3. There may be a lot of little strangers among their school fellows who weren't there last year.
  4. There may be so many of these little strangers that the school will be mighty crowded.
  5. Some of the studies they worked on in other years may be missing from the curriculum.

British Bombers Spread Fire and Ruin in Germany

More Than 200 Planes Attack Iron Center of Saarbruecken

Three Attacking Planes Lost, Air Ministry Declares

By WES GALLAGHER
LONDON, Sept. 2 (AP)—More than 200 RAF bombers spread fire and ruin in the German coal and iron center of Saarbruecken last night in a heavy raid described officially as "an outstanding success" while Russian airmen attacked East Prussia and occupied Poland in another example of destructive teamwork.

An air ministry communiqué said only three bombers were lost in the Saarbruecken attack, the second on that city and area since last Friday night. The loss was the lowest percentage since the RAF began its mass raids on Germany.

"If there's a building that's not burning I'll be surprised indeed," one Canadian flier said after returning from the raid.

"Everything seemed to go up in the air."

Saarbruecken is on the French border below German-occupied Luxembourg and is the center of an important coal and iron district supplying the German military machine.

The report of the Russian raid first came from the German high command. A Berlin broadcast said several fires were started in Warsaw, for the most part in private quarters. No details were given of the attack on East Prussia, which has been increasingly raided by the Russians in the last few days.

Hours later the Russians announced that large formations of Red planes left fifty-four fires and caused explosions in Warsaw, where military and industrial objectives were hit.

All Soviet planes returned safely, the Russians added.

American Army Officer's Car Stoned by Irish

Two Soldiers Asked "To Go Home" by Crowds at Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 2 (AP)—The automobile of a United States army officer was stoned today and two stray American soldiers in the forbidden streets of Belfast were angrily challenged. "Why don't you go home?" by crowds protesting the hanging this morning of a young Irish outlaw.

The situation was generally calm, however, with violence confined to isolated incidents after the initial upsurge of feeling when notice was posted on the prison door that Thomas J. Williams, 19, had been executed for the murder of a policeman last Easter morn.

Occupants of the United States army medical corps car carrying a Captain C. Turner (address unavailable) escaped injury when the driver stepped on the gas in the midst of the stoning. Police said no arrests were made immediately.

Belfast Out of Bounds
The presence of the two American soldiers afoot among the crowds was not explained, for the streets of Belfast were declared out of bounds for forty-eight hours from last midnight to avert any incidents by the outlaw Irish republican army in connection with Williams' hanging.

Crowds deriding their presence as British allies were dispersed by police charging with nightsticks.

Black flags, in token of both mourning and protest, were hoisted on telegraph poles and houses in the Carrick Hill Nationalist district of Belfast.

Cleage's body was found lying on a bed with a 22 caliber single-cartridge gun, holding a fired shell in the chamber, lying beside it, the medical examiner stated.

The body of the son was on the floor and that of the woman was discovered behind the bed on which her husband was lying, he asserted.

The bodies were found by police who were summoned after a resident in the home complained of an odor issuing from the Cleage apartment.

The son's name was not ascertained immediately.

Mrs. Cleage had been shot twice in the head, Dr. De Dominicis said, but the other two bodies were so

36 Government Workers Fired, 12 Disciplined

Biddle Announces Action for Subversive Affiliations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Attorney General Biddle reported to Congress today that thirty-six government employees had been dismissed, and twelve otherwise disciplined as the result of charges of subversive affiliations.

In all, he said, 2,095 investigations have been completed and it was found that "a large proportion of the complaints" were "clearly unfounded." The figures, he said, demonstrated that the government was not infiltrated with Communists, Bundists or Fascists.

He agreed with an inter-departmental committee which was created to deal with the investigations and which said: "Sweeping charges of disloyalty in the federal service have not been substantiated. The futility and harmful character of a broad personnel inquiry have been amply demonstrated."

Complaints from Dies

The complaints had been lodged by Chairman Dies (D-Tex), of the House committee on un-American activities, and by others. The inquiry was directed by Congress.

Representative Dies, in a statement issued from his Congressional office, declared:

"In plain English, Mr. Biddle's report means that he favors the employment of people in the government who are admittedly members of organizations such as the American League for Peace and Democracy, the German-American Bund, the Kyffhauserbund, American Youth Congress, International Labor Defense, National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, and others which even Mr. Biddle has pronounced subversive."

"I am sure that the great majority of American people who are far more interested in winning the war than the November elections do not agree with Mr. Biddle. This is the only issue involved in the controversy."

1,121 Complaints Made

The Biddle report, dealing with a total of 4,597 complaints, said that 1,121 were submitted by Dies. Of the Dies complaints, the report (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

TAFT PREDICTS LOWER DRAFT AGE RIGHT AFTER ELECTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-O) today expressed belief the administration was waiting until after the November elections before requesting Congress to enact legislation permitting the drafting of eighteen- and nineteen-year-olds.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky

said he had received "absolutely no request" from either the president or selective service officials for an extension of drafting authority and would not seek any legislation unless they advocated it.

Seems Up to Roosevelt

Barkley told interviewers there was a difference of opinion about the desirability of extending the draft to this lower age group, that he didn't know about the advisability of taking "green boys" into the army and would support such action only if the president thought it necessary.

Meanwhile, Senator Gurney (R-SD) proposed for introduction tomorrow a bill making eighteen- and nineteen-year-olds registrants liable for immediate induction.

Taft said his own bill was more than a "draft" amendment applying to youths under twenty; that it was aimed at voluntary manpower distribution in "an orderly way."

Would Set Up System

He would not disclose its provisions in advance of introduction "very soon," but said it was designed to set up a system for inductions based on age groups and dependencies.

"For instance," he said, "a married man under thirty with children should be called before a man over thirty with children."

"An army of 10,000,000 men should not require the calling of any men over thirty with children," Taft added.

British Service Girls Held Above General Average

Talk More Risque Than They Play, Report Declares

LONDON, Sept. 2 (AP)—When it comes to sin, the young women of Britain's uniformed services talk a more risque game than they play, a government investigating committee concluded tonight.

Appointed to inquire into what was described as "malicious" talk about the girls of the ATS, WAAF and WRNS, the committee reported in a white paper that it found "no justification for vague but sweeping charges of immorality which have disturbed public opinion."

The general allegations of immoral behaviour always stemmed from "one or two cases which in the course of gossip have been multiplied many times over, and the same applies to charges of drunkenness," the report said.

"The illegitimate birthrate in the services is lower than the illegitimate birthrate among the compar-

Tax on What You Make and Spend Latest Proposal

New Plan To Provide $3,000,000,000 Revenue Considered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Proposals for an excess profits tax on what a man makes and another levy on what he spends are expected to come before the Senate Finance committee as members cast about for upwards of $3,000,000,000 in additional revenue.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) advocates the new excess profits income tax; treasury officials are backing the "out-go" levy.

Following today's three-hour session devoted almost entirely to mine taxation problems and to technical changes in the House bill, Chairman George (D-Ga) announced that the committee would plunge tomorrow into the controversial question of individual income tax schedules.

Spending Tax Explained

George said he had assurance that the treasury proposal to tax spendings, first announced Sunday, would be in shape for committee study tomorrow. In advance of the treasury's detailed recommendations, the plan was reported to call for stiff, graduated taxes on what an individual might spend over and above his regular income tax exemptions and deductions, plus specified credits for savings and payments on previously contracted debts.

Connally's plan was to take by taxation fifty percent of an individual's earnings in excess of his average earnings during a stipulated base period. A similar plan already is in effect with regard to corporations, although the corporate excess profits rate in the House bill would (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Men Married Before Induction Became Imminent May Be Deferred

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state selective service director, said today that men who were married before their draft induction became imminent and are maintaining a bona-fide family relationship will not be drafted from any local board in Maryland until all boards have exhausted their supply of physically fit unmarried men.

Col. Stanwood also announced results of a survey made by the sixty-six local draft boards in the state. The findings, Col. Stanwood said, included:

No local board had yet completely exhausted its supply of available single men.

All local boards had been instructed to begin reclassifying

Germans Break Through South Of Vital City

Tanks Punch Another Hole in Defenses in South-west

Reds Continue To Hold Line Northwest of the City

MOSCOW, Thursday, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Germans are rushing large-scale reserves of aircraft, tanks and troops from areas deep in the rear for an all-out attack on the wavering defenses of Stalingrad, dispatches from the front said today as the Soviet command acknowledged a new breakthrough southwest of the city.

Fresh Hungarian and Rumanian divisions also were reported hurrying to join in the assault on the vital Volga river city. The Soviet midnight communiqué had announced that the Red army had "retreated to a new defense line" after fighting stubbornly against 150 tanks supported by swarms of planes.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Thursday, Sept. 3 (AP)—German tanks have punched another hole in Russian defenses southwest of Stalingrad to creep nearer that vital Volga river city, and "after stubborn fighting our troops in this sector retreated to a new defense line," the Soviets announced early today.

The break-through came after the Germans hurled 150 tanks supported by swarms of airplanes into the swaying Soviet lines.

Northwest of Stalingrad the Red army apparently was holding against violent Nazi onslaughts, but the fate of Stalingrad grew more critical hourly.

German troops also had reached a zone in the Caucasus "northwest of Novorossisk," the Russian Black Sea naval base, the midnight communiqué acknowledged, while the Red army still held at Moxdok, sixty miles west of the Russian oil fields of Grozny in the middle Caucasus.

Heavy Tanks in Action

"Southwest of Stalingrad" the communiqué said, "our troops fought stiff engagements with large enemy tank and infantry forces which broke through into our defenses. In one sector the Germans hurled into attack about 150 tanks. Our troops defending this line disabled and destroyed by artillery fire about thirty enemy tanks."

"However, a group of German tanks succeeded in penetrating into our lines. After stubborn fighting (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Maryland's Crops In Good Condition

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Maryland's crops and pastures were recovering today from the recent wet weather, the United States Weather Bureau reported today, and are generally in a good to excellent condition.

Thrashing grains continued in north-central and Western Maryland, the report said, and fall planting in some districts made good progress. Corn is good to excellent and is maturing or is matured.

Late potatoes, maturing in Western Maryland, were reported good to very good, while the yield of sweet corn was said to be good.

Tomatoes suffered the most from the rains and some fields at Joppa are a total loss, the Weather Bureau crop summary said.

The early tomato harvest is over and the second crop harvest is in full swing.

Bahr Gets Long Term as Spy For the Germans

Must Serve 30 Years; Lectured in Court by Judge

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 2 (AP)—Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, convicted of being a Nazi spy, stood with head bowed today and heard himself sentenced to thirty years of imprisonment.

Federal Judge William F. Smith could have sentenced the former Buffalo (N.Y.) scholar and athlete to death. Assistant U. S. District Attorney Thorne Lord urged that he do so. But Judge Smith gave Bahr the maximum prison term permitted by law, and asserted:

Doubts Bahr's Story

"I believe you have not divulged all you know. You told the names of people being implicated who are now in Europe, and you knew they could not be proceeded against here. I don't think you have told all the names of persons you were to have seen here."

Throughout today's proceedings, Bahr, thirty years old last Thursday, kept his head bowed.

As Bahr was taken back to the Hudson county penitentiary awaiting removal to a federal prison, his attorney, Charles R. Hardin, said "an appeal undoubtedly will be taken."

Wife Plans Divorce

Bahr's twenty-five-year-old wife, Ruth, stated in Buffalo meanwhile she felt sorry for her husband, "but I never loved him." She said she wished to divorce him and "start life all over again." They have a three-year-old child whom Bahr has never seen.

A native of Germany, Bahr obtained United States citizenship through naturalization of his father. After a brilliant career at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., he went to Germany in 1939 as an exchange student.

The jurist told the student-delegates many of whom were officially selected by their governments, that the people of the United States "must show that we are bold enough to conceive and execute practical plans for dealing with future international lawless aggressions."

"No greater task challenges a bold and progressive generation," he said, "than to so organize the scattered forces of the world that they may be brought to the support of its moral judgments and to implement well-meant pledges with sanctions which make them really law."

our troops in this sector retreated to a new defense line.

Northwest of Stalingrad, the Russians reported the Red army had withstood a constant pounding and delivered a number of flanking blows against the Nazis. One unit alone was said to have destroyed eight Nazi tanks, twelve ammunition trucks, and seven anti-tank guns, while annihilating a company of German infantry.

Trapped Nazis Killed

South of Krasnodar in the Caucasus, the Russians said their troops were annihilating a trapped enemy group while west of that city the Red army fought heavy defensive engagements "with the enemy advancing in the direction of Novorossiysk." More than 200 Germans were reported killed on the road to Novorossiysk.

Eight pontoons loaded with Germans were sunk in a river near Moxdok (probably the Terek), and "our troops beat off enemy attacks," the communists said. Soviet artillery also was reported to have destroyed three German armored cars, eight trucks and three speedboats operating on the river.

Fighting also flared up on the west bank of the upper Don at Voronezh where the Russians said Soviet artillery repulsed Nazi tank attacks and destroyed a number of guns, sixty-eight ammunition carts and an enemy infantry company.

British Army Training Directed Toward Formation of Second Front

LONDON, Sept. 2. (AP)—British army training and "other preparations" all are directed toward operations on a Continental scale in the west, a review of the land forces' part in the third year of war said today.

The assurance that the whole resources of the United States in manpower and material will be thrown into the struggle against the Axis, and the mobilization of equipment and training of American army formations, enabled the Allies to concentrate a greater striking power in the United Kingdom than at any other period of the war, the review added.

Second Front Considered The army was careful not to use the phrase "second front," but said operations on a Continental scale now had been brought within the range of practical possibilities.

The third year of war was marked by a "steady transition from defensive to offensive preparations" for the home forces, the review declared.

"The organization, equipment and training of Britain's land forces have been conditioned throughout by concentration on a new objective—the conversion of the British Isles into a base for joint Anglo-American operations against the Axis in the west," the statement said.

The field army which would bear the brunt of the invasion of the continent has increased its mobility and hitting power by the addition of "growing supplies of armored fighting vehicles, guns of all patterns and mechanical transport."

"The successful large-scale raid on Dieppe" proved that normal infantry units have reached the level of training in shock tactics which previously was attained only by Commando units, the army said.

An exhaustive recapitulation of the middle eastern fighting of the last twelve months concluded: "The Axis drive on Egypt has been held but the danger to Egypt was not removed."

boards with the larger number of 1-A single men still on call will be required to furnish most men for the state quota.

Stanwood said that local boards would probably have to start reclassifying childless married men before long. He added that some married men are being drafted but that these men married when their induction appeared imminent.

"The imminence of induction," Stanwood said, "is the basic factor to be considered in reclassifying and drafting these married men."

able civilian population," it stated. "There is a certain bravado in much talk that takes place between young people . . . and theories often are paraded in conversation which never are put into practice."

In reaching a similar conclusion regarding drinking, the committee said that alcohol had become "a symbol of conviviality" in every layer of society, and that thus many girls were simply afraid to express a preference for mere lemonade.

Turning to state problems, the governor pointed out improvements brought about in the penal system, the public health service and the state road's service.

"We entered upon," he said, "the greatest program of road construction and improvement that any four year period had witnessed."

O'Connor concluded, "upon my record as governor of the past four years, I ask the support of the Democratic voters in the primary election next Tuesday. ## O'Connor Points To His Record In Asking Votes

Governor Opens Campaign with Review of Term in Office

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2. (AP)—Governor O'Connor opened his campaign for reelection tonight with a radio address in which he asked for support in the primaries next Tuesday in view of "my record as governor of the past four years."

He promised to "continue a ceaseless effort for the most efficient and economical government in the state." If returned to office.

Inaugurating his campaign with a war-extended speech over station WFBZ, Baltimore, O'Connor reviewed his term in office after asserting "fiscal affairs of our state were in a chaotic condition," when he took office Jan. 11, 1939.

He said that during his administration the state budget has been balanced throughout; borrowing for current needs has ceased; "the huge amount of gasoline tax funds previously diverted were restored to road construction and improvement."

State Debt Reduced

"At the end of the present term, the state debt will have been reduced almost one third, namely, from $48,000,000 to $35,000,000. Real estate taxes have been reduced forty percent, until today the rate is at the lowest point in eighty-one years. State income taxes were reduced sharply in 1941 and a further percentage of twenty to twenty-eight percent will be possible when the legislature convenes in January."

O'Connor declared the Maryland state treasury "is in the strongest condition in its history. Only yesterday, after leading financiers of the entire country had studied the state's condition, we secure the highest price for state bonds ever to be paid in the history of Maryland."

The state's present financial condition, he said, was achieved "without sacrificing in any way the proper functioning or expansion of essential state agencies and services."

Increased expenditures, O'Connor asserted, were allotted for mental disease and tuberculosis hospitals and for the public education system.

The government's said that, despite local problems, "the primary concern of the state government for more than two years has been to assist without stint or limit, in the war effort."

Praises Defense Plan

The Maryland Council of Defense, he said, was founded sixteen months before Pearl Harbor and has been copied in numerous states.

The state guard, he declared, has been judged as the best in the country by the War department, while the 12,000-man Maryland minute men organization has been the model for numerous similar troops founded throughout the nation.

It is noteworthy, he said, that more war work has been undertaken in Maryland than in any of the southern states of the union with the exception of Texas. "To every request of the federal government for assistance in varied activities, we have shown prompt compliance."

"In recognition of this assistance, President Roosevelt and war board officials have expressed public commendation of Maryland's cooperation."

Mentions State Problems

Turning to state problems, the governor pointed out improvements brought about in the penal system, the public health service and the state road's service.

"We entered upon," he said, "the greatest program of road construction and improvement that any four year period had witnessed."

Americans Bomb wind-blown, tank - churned sand that befogged the battle area yesterday, the Allies were maintaining "intensive and accurate" bomb attack on the enemy and supporting Allied ground forces.

On the ground American tanks were with the British armored forces in greater numbers than ever before, although the British commander, Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery, apparently was holding back his main tank force while blasting away at the Axis with artillery and bombs.

The extent of the Axis preparations for the renewed battle was indicated by the fact that on Monday Allied planes attacked a concentration of 2,000 Axis vehicles.

The bodies were brought out of the woods on pack horses.

The central news agency correspondent at the front said vanguards of Chinese forces last Monday night saw the sky around the city tinged with red. The Chinese said it was apparent that the Japanese had begun to destroy the city.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer

Reports from the two most crucial battles of the moment—in Egypt and Russia—do not yet furnish a clear enough pattern to warrant extremes of optimism or pessimism. In both cases, however, time is running in favor of Russian and British-American defenders.

The siege of Stalingrad is now seven days old. In that time there is every evidence that the Nazi high command has hurled the full weight of German reserves into the attack, but the attackers have been held or thrown back northwest of the city and reduced to an inching forward progress on the more critical southwest sector.

Berlin Claim Doubtful

A Berlin claim that the Volga had been reached by an armored spearhead north of the city appears to be premature. It is only to the south that any immediate danger of a breakthrough the far-flung outer defenses seems great. And the terrain in that sector, becomes even more susceptible of defense with every additional foot of advance.

The time loss in the synchronized Nazi attack on British imperial forces in Egypt, now stiffened with American air and tank units, is even more obvious. General Rommel lashed out three days ago in his attempt to free his armored divisions from the handicap of a narrow and restricted front. If he has gained any further ground since the first lunge carried his tanks a reported eight miles into British minefield defenses laid to impede rather than to halt him, there has been no word of it from any source.

British Flank Holds

By every indication the thrust to turn the British left flank where it rests on the Qattara depression has been contained. Informed London comment suggests that the Nazi desert warfare specialist may have been forced already to alter his plan of action and attempt the risky business of crossing the sub-sea-level narrows of the depression southward to gain freedom of movement for his tanks.

That is within the range of possibility, but that narrow strip would be harder and slower going for Rommel's mechanized forces, however, than any ground they have yet crossed in Libya or Egypt.

Nazis Offer Easy Targets

According to reports from London, British defense dispositions have been made in expectation of such an attempt. German tank and truck columns seeking to slog across its soft going would be prime slow-motion targets both for air bombers and long range guns.

And somewhere the main strength of British tank power is still withheld for action. Closely censored Cairo advices indicated it is not only more powerful numerically than Rommel's available panzer units but now heavily rearmored with American-made land battleships, some of them manned by American tank crews.

The new British commander in Egypt, General Alexander, has been noted through his military career as an ardent disciple of the strategy of attack.

The chance for a shift from that defensive mission to one of offensive must come if Rommel is off-pinned within the narrow corridor of desert between the sea and the Qattara depression. It has always had trap possibilities since its eastward drive was stemmed two months ago on the Al Alamain-depression line.

Veteran Sergeants Given Commissions BALTIMORE, Sept. 2. (AP)—Major General Milton A. Reckord, commanding general of the Third Service Command, announced today that three veteran sergeants who have been on duty in Baltimore for a number of years, had been commissioned lieutenants.

The newly commissioned officers are: First Lieutenants Lee R. Connelley and Thomas McNulty and Second Lieutenant Roger P. Smith.

Lieut. Connelley has been on duty at the Baltimore recruiting office for seventeen years. He enlisted for the first time Aug. 6, 1916, at Columbus, Ohio, and served in the infantry until his discharge in 1921. He re-enlisted two years later and was assigned to the Baltimore office in 1925. He has been ordered to Washington for recruiting duty.

Lieut. McNulty, a native of New Bedford, Mass., has been a master sergeant, highest non-commissioned grade in the army. He came to Baltimore nine years ago for duty at headquarters. He will take a post in the personnel division, officers' section.

Lieut. Smith, who was promoted from the grade of technical sergeant, spent ten years at headquarters here. His new assignment is with the army air force in Washington. Smith enlisted at Hagerstown in 1930.

Father and Son Pitted Against Each Other in War MERIDEN, Conn., Sept. 2. (AP)—The fortunes of war have pitted Francisco P. Martorelli against his son.

Martorelli, 44-year-old naturalized citizen, is scheduled for induction in the army tomorrow. His son, Pasquale, 21, has been a sailor in the Royal Italian navy for a year and a half.

Martorelli's wife, another son and two daughters live in Italy. He last heard from them the week before Pearl Harbor.

Bogus Check Charge Will Be Aired Today In Magistrate's Court Docketed by city police as held for investigation, Rush H. Dailey, formerly of Cumberland, will be given a hearing in trial magistrate's court this morning for passing a bad check, John J. Treiber, assistant chief of police, said last night.

Dailey was arrested by Detective R. E. Flynn and Officer J. C. Stouffer at 6:30 p. m., yesterday after he allegedly had passed a bogus check at a local feed store.

Treiber said Dailey presented the check, made out for about $10, in payment for a sack of feed costing $2.17. Dailey received cash money for his change, the assistant chief added.

The check, Treiber said, was made out in the name of a person other than Dailey.

Stillwell Ready To Throw Long Weapon at Japs

General Has Word He Feels Will Surely Floor Yellow Men

CARMEL, CALIF., Sept. 2. (AP)—When the Japanese finally are pushed into the China Sea, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell really has something ready to throw at them.

It will be the same thing that will greet the long-striding general now chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, when he comes home after the guns of war are still. It's his family's battery: "Lianfairpwlwhynllglogareth whereinbrobwrthstioslogog o th."

The cry is not gibberish. It's the name of a little town in Wales which Mrs. Stilwell visited as a girl. She saw it on a sign, learned to pronounce it, and used it so frequently when she felt in particular good spirits that the general once suggested "let's use that as our family yell."

It now flows from the throat of the war-working Stilwells on all great occasions, such as birthdays, anniversaries, and the winning of battles, and from him has come the unusual name of the unusual Stilwell's home, "Lianfair," and the name of their soft-eyed glances, "Gareth."

In fact, just about anything could be drawn from those sixty-one letters, but the Stilwells are too busy these days to worry about alphanagrams.

Mrs. Stilwell is a USO hostess and co-hostess of the Pine Inn officers' club here.

Two attractive daughters, Alison and Winifred, work daily at a clinic at Monterey doing chores once delegated to corps men.

Joseph R. Stilwell Jr., is a major in active service.

A daughter, Mrs. Nancy Easterbrook, is married to a major.

The youngest son, Benjamin, 19, is interested in sciences, and dreams of following his father and brother to West Point.

Children's Eyes Should Not Be Neglected

Vision Should Always Be Tested before a Child Enters School

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

If your child lagged at school last year or if he complains of headache, screws up his eyes and face while reading, you would be wise in having his eyes tested before the fall term starts. Even though the school presumably tests the vision of all children, so many children move during a school term that your child might have missed the eye test. Then, too, errors can be made, and, unfortunately, many schools do not provide an eye-testing program at all.

You should, of course, at almost any personal sacrifice, provide your child with proper glasses in case he is found to need them. But some parents don't. They actually are not financially able to do so or don't think it matters. And some even neglect glasses because they dislike the idea of a child wearing them. A few service clubs have provided glasses or other necessary care of the eyes of many indigent children.

Sight-Saving Classes

Even children properly fitted with glasses may not be able to get on at school well unless they have special provision as in sight-saving classes. There are now 8,900 partially-sighted children in the United States for whom new worlds are opened. These children are not blind, but they have such serious eye defects that without help they cannot carry on at school.

In sight-saving classes, children have specially trained teachers. Their classrooms have well diffused and well-distributed light. They use chalk three times the usual diameter, sit at tilt-top desks, read books printed in type two or three times the ordinary size, and operate typewriters with large letters. Their remaining vision is safeguarded from eye strain. Yet 53,800 partially-sighted children throughout the United States are without the advantages of sight-saving classes.

Promoting of sight-saving facilities in schools is one of the services of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. It is a national volunteer health organization, supported by contributions.

This national organization recommends a complete medical examination, including a blood test, for every expectant mother, as the first step in preventing blindness and injured vision from prenatal causes. It urges need for the universal use of prophylactic drops at birth to protect babies' eyes from infection. It urges vision testing of pre-school children. It cooperates with educational authorities in conserving the vision of school and college children and establishing sight-saving classes.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Is a good procedure to command the child what to do or not to do away from you?

A. No; a better way is to cultivate such habits and ideals in him in your presence over a period of time as will carry on in your absence.

Meat Rationing Is To Help Our Allies

MEAT will be rationed in the United States as soon as the necessary machinery can be set up. This is expected to require four months. In the meantime, Americans are to be asked to reduce their consumption of meat voluntarily. A meatless day may be decreed, observance of which would also be voluntary.

Meat rationing, as now projected, should not bring a lean and hungry look to the American profile. The figure of two and one-half pounds per week per person is mentioned. The reaction of many persons to this is why rationing is necessary. If two and one-half pounds of meat per person per week is available.

There is no actual shortage of meat in the United States. In fact, the available supply is the largest in history. But lease-lend requirements, it is expected, will take about one-fourth of all meat processed in the United States this winter, thus reducing the quantity available for domestic consumption.

But rationing of meat seems to have been decided upon and all that remains to be done is to work out the details, including the size of the ration. Whether rationing of meat will be followed by rationing of other foodstuffs has not been revealed, but that seems to be the plan. What staples are to follow meat, and in what order, will be divulged during coming weeks.

There is a feeling among Americans that the bad news — rationing, tax and draft—will soon be known and that a stable foundation will then be available as a springboard from which to attack the enemy with vim and vigor. If too much legislative and executive time seems to be taken up at the moment with plans for regimenting the home front, this is but a preliminary to the all-out war effort that lies ahead, an effort that is certain to bring victory and a return to the American way of life.

What conditions will resemble at the end of a long war cannot yet be guessed at, but there will be more to eat in the United States for at least a year than in any other country on the face of the earth, and the prospect is that this will remain true until the end of the war however long it lasts. But, we cannot be wasteful about it.

A Wholesome Development

A REGENERATION of the Republican party hereabout seems to be in process, judging from the unusually large outpouring of people for the reception held this week at the Knights of Malta hall by the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland, the hopeful spirit there entertained, along with the pledges of united support given regardless of primary results, the renewal of faith in the basic principles of the party and the intelligent interest given to the need for perpetuating American governmental processes.

Further evidence of the trend is to be found in the unusually large number of new voters who have listed themselves as party members in the voting registrations.

There are good reasons underlying this unmistakable trend. The people are dissatisfied for one thing over governmental management, which they evidently want bettered in the interest of winning the war as quickly as possible and at the least possible cost in American lives and treasure. For another, many are beginning to appreciate what happens in countries dominated by the aggressor powers and the stark necessity of preserving the American system of government, which can hardly be done if our present party system is destroyed. All in all, it is a wholesome development.

The Puzzling Stress On Spendings

IT SEEMS to many that the stress laid by Washington officials upon spendings by the people is being considerably overdone.

It is all right and necessary for wartime conditions to urge economy and thrift among the people, even if government itself is somewhat lax in that respect, but the incessant harping upon spendings gives the impression that the people generally have been found guilty of indulging in riotous and extravagant living because war production is giving employment to many people formerly out of jobs or on WPA pay rolls, and because the money disbursed to war plant workers is adding to the total national income.

A point in instance is the first announcement that meat rationing had been decided upon. It coupled the news with the declaration by Secretary Wickard that it was due to an abnormally large demand arising from "record high civilian buying power." Yet the fact is that lease-lend requirements are taking about a fourth of the supply of meats processed in this country from its normal supply, thus making rationing necessary in order that everybody may share equally in meat distribution. It seems unreasonable to presume that the people, or any large class of them, are buying twice the quantity of meat they need.

The stress on spendings by the people also seems to be overdone in connection with the framing of the new tax bill. Here, too, citizens not guilty of wanton excesses are puzzled over the contradiction receiving publication as to the necessity, on the one hand, for the spending privilege to be taken from them and the necessity, on the other hand, to put all their extra earnings, and even more, into war stamps and bonds. That seems to be a case of eating the cake and having it too, a scheme that never has worked.

Perhaps the trouble lies in too many cooks for the stew and the lack of a chief cook in each of the various Washington kitchens.

Where Are Those Big War Profits?

"WHATEVER MAY BE the progress of wartime sacrifice in other sections of the economy," says the New York Times, "the corporation stockholder is certainly taking a stiff cut in income these days. In the first seven months of this year the number of corporations to announce reductions or omissions of dividends reached the highest total for any comparable year since the depression period of 1938."

"Many of the arguments which have been presented in behalf of increased wages, as an offset to the obvious fact that the upward trend of compensation to labor is an important contribution to the inflation spiral," in the opinion of Advertising Age, "have rested on the general statement that industry is making huge profits out of the war."

"Current earnings statements of the largest manufacturers of the country, many of them holding substantial contracts for the production of war requirements, are an eloquent answer to these general statements. Net profits are down as compared with either peacetime or defense period figures, even without allowing for the huge increase in corporation taxes which are to be exacted. Thus it is evident that not only is business not enjoying excessive or unusual profits as the result of industrial activity due to the war, but that profits are substantially less than have been recorded under more normal conditions."

Early in the fall of 1939 the National Association of Manufacturers denounced any attempt to use war emergencies as a basis for profiteering. The record shows that industry has not only been heavily taxed but that post-war reserves are in danger.

In providing the materials of war and in paying a large proportion of the war bill, American industry is carrying an exceptionally heavy share of the load.

Two Paragraphs for Women

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Two paragraphs from Lincoln Steffens's Life, written by himself. . . . Two paragraphs as true as any woman ever read.

Lincoln Steffens told about how Frederick Howe wrote his life and gave his manuscript proudly to his wife to read. She did and looked up at him humorously and said, "But, Fred, weren't you ever married?" "Oh, yes," said he, "I forgot that. I'll put it in."

"I can understand this," writes Lincoln Steffens. "A love story is worth writing. I believe, only when it is understood, and a man seldom understands his own romance. I don't understand mine. It seems to me that I can see through a government or political situation, but human relations are beyond my comprehension. They happen to me; friendship has been the music of my life, but what does music say?"

"And what does love mean? We should be able to answer this question. Love is coming of age as the human mind is, and two should be decently married. But my intelligence stops where love begins and again where love leaves off."

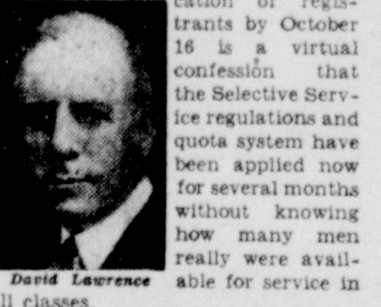

"And so it, I think to observe, with males generally. They can grasp sex; that's what they practice and talk and think they know a bit about, but sex and love are, or should be, one, as women know, who can navigate cunningly through the storm that blinds their lovers. If there is ever to be a science of love and marriage and if it is to be an applied science, women and such effeminate men as poets will have to know it. Eugenics will be the woman's art, as it is her business now."

I think women would be happier if they'd keep in mind, always, those two paragraphs. If they'd remember that men are children. If they'd try not to expect too much of them. If they'd see men as they are, instead of as they pretend to be—or as women think they are—or seem to be, and if they'd only see how blindly men stumble through love. That would take some of the pain out of living with men, for women. They wouldn't have so many disappointments. They wouldn't be hurt so often. They'd be more at peace, and they'd surely be better friends with men, even with men whom they love and who love them.

Lawrence Declares Draft Operation Calls for Inquiry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—An announcement that all local draft boards must complete their classification of registrants by October 16 is a virtual confession that the Selective Service regulations and quota system have been applied now for several months without knowing how many men really were available for service in all classes.

Just how the National Selective Service Administration could have ordered local boards to draft men in certain instances irrespective of their dependency or marital status—when the administration itself did not know how many single men without dependents or how many single men in non-essential businesses were available is a mystery into which Congress might well inquire.

Discrimination between citizens in time of war is the most serious offense that can be charged in a democracy against officials in position of authority. That there has been discrimination between age groups and between classes and that the whole Selective Service operation has in many instances worked injustice is not ameliorated by the fact that in the majority of cases the local boards have been fair or that in a majority of the instances there have been no discriminations.

Ignorant or Swamped

Letters are piling up showing that the Selective Service administration either does not know of the injustices or else that it is so swamped with the details of its job that it has not yet corrected the inequities and injustices.

Ninety-nine out of every hundred citizens will go to war willingly and endure any hardship provided there are not favorites and provided when the call is for married men, for example, it is clear that all able-bodied single men have been called, too, and the supply exhausted.

The principal criticism of the Selective Service administration is that it has failed to make a nationwide pool of classes so that the citizen would be assured of fairness on every side.

The Government Appeal Agents' Association, of Essex County, N. J., recently passed resolutions condemning the discriminations arising out of the quota system and also declaring that since most registrants have been classified and deferreds considered without the personal examination of the dependents or the employers, provision for such personal consideration of each case be made.

From Iowa
Vernon Denman, chairman of a local board in Des Moines, Ia., writes under date of Aug. 29:

"A survey of the seven local boards which have their headquarters in this city was made this week by a reporter for the Des Moines Tribune to determine the interpretation of the several boards on the question as to whether they had a right to change the classification of 3-A to class 1-A and then forward these men for induction."

"The wide difference of opinion is appalling and I still maintain it is not the fault of the local boards and it is chargeable only to the office of the national director. It is a shame that such conditions are allowed to exist."

From Birmingham, Ala., W. V. Bartlett, comes this letter:

"As a board member, I can attest fully that what you have written is a fact. Such a vital and important law as the Selective Service act affecting the lives of millions of Americans and the production of very much needed war materials should have been regulated with most careful and weighted thought—both by national and state directors and administered with the same unbiased freedom and

Defiance of State Law in Voting Bill Is Viewed as a Brazen, Alarming Step

By MARK SULLIVAN

There is a bill in Congress. It is before me. At its present stage it is in two versions printed in one document—one version as passed by the House, the other by the Senate. In both versions the opening line contains these words:

"Notwithstanding any provision of state law."

Does anyone need to read more? Is there any possible doubt that this is an attempt to pass a federal law overriding and nullifying state laws?

And state laws about what? It is state laws about the very foundation of government, about elections. The House version of the bill continues: "Notwithstanding any provision of state law relating to elections."

Can anyone look upon a bill having that character and purpose, without apprehension that something deeply serious is under way? Here is a bill which announces that Congress is about to change the election laws of the states. True, the change is to be only "in time of war." But if war calls for change of election laws, it is for the states to change them—not Congress.

True, also the proposed change is only about some elections, those for federal offices—Congress, president and vice president. But the constitution says these elections shall be controlled by the states: "The electors (voters) in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature."

How Far Will It Go?
Can anyone escape apprehension that if Congress goes part way in changing the election laws of the states, it can go all the way? Can anyone fail to apprehend that loss by the states of their power to control their elections would mean ultimately the end of the states as government units? That ultimately the United States would cease to be a federal government of forty-eight states, and become a consolidated single government—would ultimately become, as respects its fundamental basis, a totalitarian government?

These apprehensions exist. They are justified by the pending bill as it now stands. Is it conceivable we are going to take the step this bill implies without complete understanding by all of the people—complete discussion in the press, over the radio, through all the agencies of public opinion?

Original Purpose Proper
The original purpose of the measure was simple, limited and wholly proper. It was merely to facilitate absentee voting by soldiers and sailors. It did not intrude at all upon the rights of the states to control their elections, and the qualifications of voters. Carefully the bill specified, "Eligible to vote . . . under the law of the state of his residence." All that the federal government was to do was merely to set up a mechanism by which soldiers and sailors distant from their states would be enabled to get ballots from their state government, vote them, and send them back.

But only about forty of the states have provisions for absentee registration and voting. It occurred to Congress that soldiers and sailors from other states ought also to have the right. Trying to do this, Congress clearly trespassed upon the

Minority Hatreds Are Scored as Food for Axis

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—I stepped inadvertently into all the hidden hates of this country in some recent columns, trying to clear up the most foolish popular misunderstandings of what we are fighting for.

On this desk, piled high and strewn about, is the evidence of all the minority bitterness of people against people, group against group . . . labor hatred of the boss . . . the anti-Semites hatred of the Jews and vice versa . . . the anti-Roosevelt hatreds, the New Deal hatreds of business . . . the Communist or radical hatred of all opposition, including advocates of democracy whom they call "Fascist-minded Nazis" . . . mother hatred of war . . . the hatred engulfing the negro question on all sides . . . the hate against Washington and its leadership . . . the hate-prosecutions by government against particular groups of people it does not like, the Kaisers, the Chicago Tribune, the Associated Press.

On Both Sides

With the world in flames, here they all are in one representative heap, requiring hours of reading—the pet personal and group bitterness, the freely spoken hates of a free people, not just on one side of every question of the day, but on both sides of it, equally strong, deeprooted, unthinking. Even those who accuse others of hate—and especially those—radiate hate themselves.

This situation, of course, is what Hitler and Japan are depending upon to win. They make no secret of their strategy. It is blared forth daily on the Berlin and Tokyo radios.

They know they are not capable of mustering armed strength equal to a nation as rich and powerful as ours. Their initial surprise having failed, and unable to reach us across the seas with their ships and planes, they openly rely on us to defeat ourselves.

They tell their own people and they tell us that our own dissensions, our internal conflicts, our hates for each other, will bring us to our doom.

Knowledge an Antidote

What to do about it? I could say nothing, absolutely nothing, except to tell about it, to let everyone know about it. Just stop pretending it does not exist, and recognize it for what it is, but for no more and no less than it is, as shown in my mail.

Primarily this mail shows our internal hates are restricted to minorities. A minority of labor hates the boss, the minority represented by strikes, slowdowns, racketeering.

The unions themselves represent a minority of labor in this country, and the offensive, obstructionist groups are only a minority of the unions. These letters suggest ninety-five per cent of the workers of this country are ready to make personal sacrifices to win. So also with the mothers.

It may surprise you more to learn that both the Jews and the anti-Semites have just about the same variety of likes and dislikes for each other, and to about the same degree. Those who really hate, are minorities of these minorities on both sides. For instance, one Cleveland man wrote me:

"I read your articles with the same distaste, disapproval and detestation with which I used to listen to the hate-inspired radio orations of Father Coughlin."

An Opposite View

A hundred Jews wrote or telegraphed in the vein of one from nearby Toledo:

"You deserve congratulations for the fine, clear and conservative manner in which you answer the confused correspondents."

Reason always cancels out nonsense.

On the one hand, we have agitators screaming in a magazine about "Americans we can do without," and they enjoy a following about equal apparently to extremists on the other side who seem to want to crush every Jew, under the impression that all Jews are the same, although a spare sincere thought will tell them the range among Jews is about the same as every other group, some good, some bad.

The other hottest hater are small minorities, also. They create the impression they are not, because they are so loud in what they say.

Even the business hater, still left in government, seem to have been somewhat becalmed by recent events, and the government group which wanted to purge the nation of its social opponents has largely subsided. A trend toward common sense and reasonableness is notable here.

On the Decline

Despite all the noise, therefore, I would say hate is on the decline. I would say the mail shows the hates on both sides are edging themselves toward back seats, if they have not already dropped off the rear fender.

Don't forget this, all your hates! Hate alone breeds hate. Bitterness alone can make bitterness. If you want to radiate it, you are pretty apt to get a full dose in return, also you are making a big mistake if you think you can get a majority of the American people into your moods, while there is a world fire to put out.

Gasoline Tax Receipts Show a Decrease

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 2. (AP)—With gasoline and rubber rationing cutting into the state's gasoline sales tax receipts, the total receipts for August of this year showed a decline from those of August, 1941, but were higher than those of July.

State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes said he had no explanation for the unexpected increase in the August figures. However, he said it was possible that ration books were being used in bulk rather than in weekly allotments.

Total receipts for August of this year amounted to $1,215,523.90.

Tawes said, as against the $1,324,266.82 for August of last year, July receipts were $927,691.51, compared with $1,216,682.54 for July, 1941.

Net August revenue remitted to State Treasurer Hoopetr S. Miles for distribution was $1,124,900.16. In July, a total of $818,337.91 was remitted.

Close Friends Attend

of apple trees, the types varying with sections of the country. However, all species are controlled in the same manner.

The accompanying Garden-Graph shows a canker on an apple branch. To control, cut out the diseased part and then increase the vigor of the tree by both feeding and spraying. These cankers are the result of fungi which gain entrance to the tree through wounds in the bark caused by injury or insects. If there is any possibility of infection by fire blight in your community, disinfect both the tools and the wound, unless the work is done during the winter months. Burn all dead wood lying under the tree, as well as the diseased sections cut off to prevent re-infection.

American women bought 43,000,000 dozen pairs of full-fashioned silk or nylon stockings during 1940.

THE STORY OF BREAD
may well be called The Story of Civilization

Bread, the most venerable of prepared foods, has helped man, and man in turn has bettered the quality of his staff of life.

YEAST is the life of bread... and the story of yeast is the story of scientific research, uniform quality, mammoth production, modern refrigeration... and daily delivery to bakers in every city, town and village throughout the land... even by boat, by sled and by plane when other transportation is interrupted by floods and blizzards.

Anheuser-Busch is one of America's biggest sources of baker's yeast.

Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the plant have led to the development of products contributing to human necessity and progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.

Endless research in making the world's leading beer has led to other products

VITAMINS, B COMPLEX—For manufacturers of pharmaceutical and food products. Our plant is one of the world's largest sources.

VITAMIN D—Anheuser-Busch produces enough of the basic material for Vitamin D to supply the entire American market.

CORN SYRUP—many millions of pounds annually for America's candy industry.

SYRUPS—for food, table and confectionery uses and special syrups for medicinal purposes.

STARCH—for food, textile, paper and other industries—millions of pounds annually.

VITAMINS FOR LIVESTOCK—We are America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins used to fortify animal feeds.

REFRIGERATING EQUIPMENT—for retailers of frozen foods and ice cream the country over. This division is now working all-out on glider wing and fuselage assemblies for our Armed Forces.

DIESEL ENGINES—Adolphus Busch, founder of Anheuser-Busch, acquired the first rights to manufacture this revolutionary engine in America and thus started our great Diesel industry on its way.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10c and 25c.

Mark's Wife

by MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
AN AUTO horn shrieked raucously and Ellen said, "That would be Dad."

"Run along, child. You must be starved," Barbara got a raincoat from the closet.

Ellen slipped into the coat and picked up her school books. "I'll come back tonight."

Barbara cast a morose glance at the gleaming wet street and shook her head. "I don't believe I'll stay open tonight. The rain is never going to stop. If no one comes in this afternoon—and it doesn't look as if anyone would—it isn't likely anyone will come by tonight. People with any sense will stay at home."

"Somebody's sure to come in,
Mrs. Wister, if only for a cup of tea and toast with you. You certainly started something when you began serving it."

Barbara said happily. "It was a good idea, wasn't it? I've made lots of friends that way, and customers, too."

"I was thinking, though, that you could cut down on expenses if you cut it out. Mrs. Alwyn left three more jars of her ginger marmalade today. That's a dollar and forty cents you could have saved."

Barbara shook her head. "That's all the money the poor old thing earns."

"Well, then," Ellen said boldly,
"you could stop sending it to everybody for presents, like you do."

"Could I?" Barbara asked thoughtfully. "It's a treat, you know, and I like to do little things for people because they do things for me."

"Why shouldn't they?" Ellen grumbled, putting on her gloves slowly. "You do all sorts of nice things for people all the time."

"Just trying to make friends, my dear. And I have, haven't I?"
she asked.

"I'd say you have. You never would have been asked to join the Mother's club and the Ladies' Aid and the Guild if the ladies didn't like you. . . . I forgot to tell you that Mrs. Crawford called up and says if you're keeping open tonight, would you like to come to her house for supper."

Barbara's morose expression lifted instantly. "The darling!" she said. "I never thought she'd get to like me. She looks so . . . so rock-bound New England."

"Folks often look that way when they don't know that you like them. When you first came here—"
Her father interrupted her speech with another long shriek of the horn.

Barbara buttoned the girl's coat up under her chin and kissed her.

"Run along, child, and get your lunch. I know all about what they were thinking when I first came here. Now it's different and I love it."

She went to the door with her and stood watching the car out of sight, scanning the length of Main street with a troubled gaze. It was no passing April shower that poured out of the heavens. It was a steady downpour that had driven people indoors and washed out her hopes of a good business day.

She sniffed the clean wet air and the smell of the earth breaking its winter bonds ran into her with a sweet promise. She felt her senses quicken in response. It was a kind of anticipation that ran through her, a purely instinctive anticipation because there was no promise for her in the coming season. She did not want it to come.

The passing of each day left her with an inward swooping of her spirit. She was afraid to face the future. Her little business was a good one, but try as she would to bend her powers of ingenuity and merchandizing, she could not catch up with the sum of money she needed to meet the bills stacked on her desk. The bills from the publishing firms that supplied her new books, the bills from the greeting card and gift people were the least of her worries; it was the money
due on the mortgage, her insurance, her taxes that confronted her with awful proportions.

These she forgot for a moment.
It was April and its earth-given perfume stirred her, turning the pages of her memory.

It was April when she and Mark were married. It seemed very remote now, that night five years ago. She could remember how they smelled the fresh earth in the car driving to Greenwich and the smell had brought a lump to her throat and she had been more than a little frightened and felt trapped in that dusty parlor of the justice of peace. But she hadn't dared to say so to herself, telling that voice in her that she was doing what was right.

She fixed her eyes on the lighted window of the drugstore across the street, but the usual red and green symbols of the pharmacist faded before the glance turned in upon herself and she could remember every detail of the room in Greenwich; the carpet had great faded rosettes on it and the curtains were musty and of a nondescript green.

She could remember looking down and seeing a run in her stocking, and remember feeling the cold

touch of the gold band Mark slipped on her finger. But she could remember Mark's embarrassed kiss less clearly than she could remember the feel of Tom Kilcran's strong arm about her waist in a waltz that was less than an echo six weeks past. THAT was something she wanted to forget.

She had put him out of her mind resolutely when she sent back his letter.

Resolutions. She laughed dryly, thinking that it was beginning to be a habit with her to make them.
Not to think of Tom Kilcran again.
Not to think of Tony in a romantic light. It was just as well that she had made that one when Ruth Calder made her ridiculous assumption that Tony was interested in her. Ruth knew it was ridiculous now. Because last night she had been with Barbara at the movies and together they had seen the two heads close together ahead of them, Tony and Pamela Kilcran.

Well, that was good, she thought.
She was glad that the Kilcrans had taken Tony on and that Pamela was interested in him. It would be good for both. If Pamela had any influence with her father, she would be able to help Tony.

Her thoughts settled on him. She was worried about Tony. He was thinner, more tired than he should have been. It was those chemical poisoning cases at the mill. He talked to her about them, about his need for a laboratory, and then when he spoke to Kilcran, he was angry and frustrated. That she had not understood, remembering the kindness and sympathy that were like a light from within Tom Kilcran.

Deliberately she turned her thoughts from Tony's troubles to her own, going back into the shop, but avoiding a glance at the bills
on her desk.

She brushed ashes into the hearth, rearranged a shelf of books, taking one down to read, and settled herself in a chair to await whatever the afternoon might bring. It would be little, she thought.

Absorbed in her book, she forgot the dismal day, the shop itself, and was startled when the bell announced a stranger. His presence was startling. He looked like a huge bear in the wet shining raincoat that enveloped his enormous bulk. He must, Barbara thought, moving forward to greet him, weigh at least 300 pounds. She knew she had never seen him in the town.

Revision Is Made On Prices of Soft Coal at the Mines

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—
The bituminous coal division, making its first general revision of minimum prices of soft coal at the mines, has ordered increases averaging 15.53 cents a ton.

Increases range from five to thirty-cents a ton for various regions.

Dan H. Wheeler, acting director of the division, ordered the new minimum rates into effect October
1. The period in between, he said, would provide time for any adjustments made necessary by the new schedules.

Minimum prices established under the Bituminous Coal act represent the lowest prices producers may accept for coal P. O. B. at the mine.
They are intended to stabilize the industry by presenting competition based on selling below cost of production.

Officials of the office of price administration said the increased prices probably would result in no increased cost to the consumer. For the most part the new schedules are approximately those already in effect at the mine, and the principal effect will be to prevent prices below the "floor."

Wheeler generally followed recommendations filed July 27 by Examiner Floyd McGown, but made some modifications, including the

Optimum Diet Is Discussed by Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Last winter Dr. A. J. Carlson, professor of Physiology at the University of Chicago, startled an audience of medical students and scientists by saying, in the midst of all the discussion about improving the national nutrition: "Nobody on earth knows what an optimum diet is."

Starting, because everybody has been talking as if it were generally agreed exactly what the optimum human diet is.

What is the definition of an optimum diet? Well, it is a little more than an adequate diet. The medical dictionary defines optimum thus: "The temperature or other conditions at which vital processes are carried on with the greatest activity."

Health Diet

So an optimum diet is the diet with which vital processes are carried on with the greatest activity. An adequate diet maintains health. Thus you can keep healthy rates up to thirty generations in more than average activity and fertility on a diet which consists of one-sixth whole dried milk and five-sixths of ground whole wheat.

Increase the proportion of dried milk to one-third and there is a marked improvement in nutrition and positive health. Growth is more rapid and efficient, death rates are lower, the period of the prime of life is increased and fertility is greater. But as you keep adding food elements a place is reached where obesity and sluggishness appears, initiative and activity decrease.

Somewhere in between is the theoretical "optimum diet."

We know in a general way what it is, but the scientific mind likes exact definition in mathematical terms and that we cannot give for the optimum diet.

A group of San Francisco dentists whom we quoted recently, Drs. Collins, Jensen and Beck, in the course of their experimental work sent out a questionnaire to a number of nutritionists, physiologists and clinicians trying to find out what the definitions and specifications of an optimum diet are.

A large number refused to attempt a definition, saying that on account of the incompleteness of the present knowledge of nutritional requirements a specific answer could not be written.

One research worker said, "If human beings were as uniform in familial and inheritance characters as a colony of rats, an optimum diet could be reliably appraised. But they are not. The optimum diet of the Eskimo is quite unlike that of the Negro in the bayous of Louisiana. One may find a myriad of varying tastes and digestive capacities which affect the utilization of diet."

In general, as I say, we know that a human being must have at least fifty grams of protein daily, from 2,000 to 3,000 calories depending on his activity, and vitamins and minerals. So much milk, eggs, meat, grains, cereals, fruits and vegetables are the basic products which contain these chemical elements. But how much of the caloric intake should be supplied by carbohydrate, or fat, or protein, we do not know. Can you safely reduce the carbohydrate intake for the sake of the teeth? The exact answer is unknown.

O'Connor Will Make Campaign Speeches

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 2 (AP)—Governor O'Connor has announced that he would inaugurate an abbreviated series of campaign speeches with an address tomorrow night over a Baltimore radio station.

O'Connor said his attention to Maryland's part in the war effort, his work with the state guard, minute men and other defense organizations had shortened the time he could devote to campaign for reelection.

He said he felt he owed it to the voters of the state, however, to present his platform on which he would stand at the primaries, September 8.

Former Grant Resident Dies from Airplane Accident Injuries

Moorefield Grade School Will Open On Schedule

Fire Hazards Will Be Removed and Fire Escape Erected

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 2. —The Moorefield graded school will open on schedule September 8 as a result of a conference with School Superintendent G. R. Kiracofe and a committee from the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company Monday evening. The conference grew out of the action taken by the firemen last week in condemning the school building as a fire hazard and unsafe for school children.

Kiracofe, representing the board of education and assistant chief P. Arnold, R. E. Fisher and Lantz, representing the fire company, went over the building, room by room, deciding steps necessary for the maximum protection of the children. A fire escape will be constructed on the north end of the building, the old style open electric wiring inspected and fixed, an additional passageway from one of the rooms planned and the iron grills covering the basement rooms removed so that entrance or exit could be effected.

Kiracofe stated that the board was interested in taking every precaution necessary to safeguard the children, but that he had been unable to get competent advice on what changes would be necessary in the building to pass inspection. He pointed out that neither the state education department or the fire marshal's office had sent an inspector or an engineer to make recommendations. A representative of the insurance underwriters also failed to appear during the summer, Kiracofe said.

Kiracofe stated that after he received a letter from the State Fire Marshal, Fred B. Watkins, ordering the Hardy County Board of Education to make the building safe within sixty days he phoned the fire marshal's office, requesting recommendations and specifications and followed the call by a letter. Kiracofe pointed out that since the fire marshal's office would inspect the work after completion it was necessary, and that the board felt it was to spend $2,000 or $3,000. It should be reasonably sure that the alterations would pass inspection.

The action of the firemen in condemning the school building grew out of a demand made last May by the Inter-Civic Club Council requesting that the firemen close the building until made safe from fire. The question has been discussed in various organizations in Moorefield for the past three years.

Inter-Civic Group Approves

The Moorefield Inter-Civic Club Council Monday night voted to cooperate with the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company in action to shut down the closing of school for thirty days or until progress had been made in safeguarding the school from fire hazards. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. McCoy with representatives of thirteen organizations present. Committee reported on the action of the firemen and the school board and the motion for co-operation passed.

H. R. Shields, chairman, and a representative of the Moore Lodge reported that the town of Moorefield had taken steps to permit Town Agent Ted Sager to devote more of his time to the duties of patrolling the streets rather than working as a fireman.

A proposal to inaugurate a street alley cleanup campaign was adopted until the school project was completed.

A representative of the Hardy County Civilian Defense Council outlined the workings of the test booklet to be held in Moorefield September 24 and all representatives of the member organizations pledged co-operation from their respective groups.

Pass Auto Test

Corp. H. R. Shields reports three drivers passed examinations for driver's permits in the tests given this week. Applicants who passed were Roy E. Fisher, McElroy, Oather B. Wilson, Needham and Pauline G. Harper, Mouth Seneca. Two applicants failed.

Marriage Announced

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Mary Frances Burke, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Guthrie, Perryville, Md., to Wayne T. Brooks, son of Dr. Mrs. O. V. Brooks, which took place in Charleston Friday, August 29.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Alston of the First Presbyterian church in Charleston. Brooks is a graduate of A. S. Scott college, Atlanta, Ga., and a teacher at Moorefield high school the past three years. Mr. Brooks is a graduate of Potomac college and West Virginia university. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2.)

The responsibility of providing trained leadership for the children of the future rests with the teachers colleges, Dunkle added and it would be a short-sighted policy to let the youth of America grow up with less than the best training that can be provided.

Observing Parkersburg Blackout when Plane Made Crash Landing

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 2. (AP)—Newton T. Sites, 55-year-old state police sergeant, died today a victim of an airplane accident which occurred while he was acting as a blackout observer.

Death came to the veteran officer at 1:30 p. m. He was injured Monday night as a plane piloted by Miss Irene Crum cracked up while attempting to land after the blackout.

Miss Crum was quoted by airport officials that she under shot the runway and landed in a soybean field in an attempt to avoid a ship which was on the runway. The veteran woman pilot escaped with bruises.

The shock of the landing resulted in a broken neck for Sites and he had been paralyzed since the accident. Physicians had reported this morning "a little improvement" in his condition overnight but held out no hope for recovery. He suffered a relapse shortly after noon.

Sites, a native of Rough Run near Petersburg in Grant county, enlisted in the state police January 1, 1925. He had been a farmer and merchant. He served sixteen months with an Engineers' Unit during the first World war.

Meet Cary Grant
—Star Fugitive!

Cary Grant considers himself a "fugitive from leading man roles," which is one reason he eagerly sought his present role in Columbia's "The Talk of the Town." In that film, Cary Grant is simply a fugitive!

With Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman as his co-stars in the Maryland theater attraction, Grant appears as the likable target of the nation's most widespread man-hunt, a fugitive from legal justice who neither loses his sense of humor or his sense of proportion.

Grant's "flight" from leading man roles began about five years ago, after an equal period of time in motion pictures which allowed him to look handsome and well-groomed, but offered no opportunity for acting. Since then, he has made such noteworthy pictures as "The Awful Truth," "Topper," "Holiday," "Only Angels Have Wings," "Gunga Din," "His Girl Friday," "The Howards of Virginia," "Penny Serenade," and "Suspicion." In "The Talk of the Town," his costume consists almost exclusively of a secondhand suit of clothing.

Grant was born in Bristol, England, and inherited his love for acting from his grandfather, Percival Leach, an English actor who spent his lifetime in the theatre. Grant's father was a clothing manufacturer.

As a boy, the future screen star was primarily interested in electricity. While attending Fairfield Academy in Bristol, Cary conceived a new theatrical lighting effect. Although he was but twelve, he took his idea to the manager of the Princess theater in Bristol and was permitted to install and operate it.

His association with stage people aroused his interest in the theatre and he shortly ran away from home to join an acrobatic troupe. Four weeks later his father caught up with the act at Norwich and brought Grant home. For two years, young Grant half-heartedly pursued his studies, then he ran away again, rejoining the troupe. This time his father allowed the boy's decision to stand. When the troupe traveled to New York, Grant accompanied it and appeared at the famous Hippodrome for two years.

'Rebecca' Tests Won
Anne Baxter Film Contract

Way back in 1939, when she was only sixteen, Anne Baxter was rushed to Hollywood and tested for the lead in "Rebecca." She had behind her a smattering of stage experience on Broadway and two years training with Maria Ouspenskaya. She didn't get the role; Joan Fontaine got it, instead. But, on the strength of those tests, Anne was rewarded with a long-term Twentieth Century-Fox contract which, it might be added, did her more good than any one role could have.

"And right away," the comely miss recalls, as if it all happened in the dim past, "I was loaned out for 'Twenty Mule Team,' which was all right with me, because I was eager to get started in films."

Since then, Anne has been featured in "The Great Profile," "Charley's Aunt," and "Swamp Water." Now she has the best role of her career in "The Pied Piper" due Saturday at the Strand theater, as a French damsel who helps Monty Woolley shepherd a group of children, including Roddy McDowall, through the hands of the Gestapo to safety.

Nunnally Johnson produced "The Pied Piper" and Irving Pichel handled the directorial reins.

Elliott and Ritter
Star in Picture

Two gun-slinging stars in their newest bullet-flaming hit! Bill Elliott and Tex Ritter ride "The Devil's Trail" to smash the wildest renegade band that ever terrorized the old frontier!

Set in Kansas before the Civil War, "The Devil's Trail" which starts today at the Embassy theater, is a roaring tornado of fighting thrills as Wild Bill Elliott and singin' Tex Ritter rout would-be secessionists from their bullet-barriaded hideouts! The sensational new film, directed by Lambert Hillier, includes in its cast such other well-known players as Eileen O'Hearn, Frank Mitchell, Noah Beery, Sr., Ruth Ford and Edmund Cobb. Leon Barsha produced the Columbia action drama.

New Romantic Team
Featured at Garden

Lucille Ball and James Craig, the screen's newest romantic team, are co-starring in colorful frontier roles in "Valley of the Sun," RKO currently at the Garden theater. Miss Ball is cast as the owner of a little restaurant in a desert town, and Craig as an army scout seeking to prevent an Apache uprising. Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dean Jagger head the featured cast, which includes Billy Gilbert, Peter Whitney and Tom Tyler.

State Road Worker
Is Fatally Injured

HURRICANE, W. Va., Sept. 2. (AP)—J. W. Childers, 60, attempting to retrieve his lunch pail which he had placed in a road commission truck, was fatally injured by the truck today.

Childers, employee of the road commission, started to get his lunch pail which another employee entered the truck and started to leave the garage. The wheels passed over childers' body.

Particular about Palms

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The civic-minded gentry were flabbergasted, to say the least, to learn that a movie company filming a picture at Drew Field was using imitation palm trees when natural ones are thicker than sandspurs in these parts.

The movie-makers restored calm, however, by explaining that the locale was supposed to be Hawaii and that the palm trees there are different from Florida palms.

Brooklyn Defeats Cincinnati in Twelfth

Vaughan's Single Gives Dodgers 3 to 2 Victory

Durocher Uses Five of His Best Pitchers To Down the Reds

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers had to go through a twelve-inning wringer operated by Buckle Walters to beat the Cincinnati Reds today, but they came out unscathed with a 3 to 2 victory and their National League lead inflated to 4½ games.

It was a tense struggle for the Dodgers, their second extra-inning battle in three days, and Manager Leo Durocher used five of his best pitchers with Whitlow Wyatt eventually finishing the game and getting credit for his seventeenth victory.

Walters, who himself made three hits, batting in one of the Reds' runs and scoring the other, held forth alone till the twelfth when he walked Pee-wee Reese and Wyatt sacrificed. Then Lefty Clyde Shoun was summoned to the mound. John Rizzo batted for Dixie Walker and popped up, but Arky Vaughan followed with a sharp single to right and Reese scored, although Vaughan was thrown out trying to stretch his blow to a two-bagger.

Excitement Ahead
CHICAGO—Just as the two pennant races were on the verge of taking a brace of nose dives, the blasted rush of the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox has stirred up new interest in the Middle West. In this and the Far Western sector New York or any port of it is not a favorite location.

They like to see the big town taken apart in any sporting enterprise, and for this reason are solidly back of the Cardinals and the Red Sox. Both teams have been traveling at top speed for the last month with the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers on the erratic side.

With Labor day approaching there isn't much time left, although teams have made up at least seven-game deficits after this run from the head of the stretch.

For all that, schedule matters and other factors still favor New York and Brooklyn.

The Cardinals are largely on the road. The early June lead set up by the Yankees was a large chunk to cut away entirely. The Yankees haven't looked to be the team they were a year ago, but they are still a well-rounded outfit with consistent strength in both offense and defense.

The Cardinals, with a combined roundup in the way of pitching and hitting will be dangerous to the wire. They are getting more consistent pitching than the Dodgers can bank on, and they are hitting just as well. They have improved more than a mere trifle between July Fourth and Labor day.

West Coast Cheer
The West Coast, in a sporting way, has emerged from the shadows. Lifting the ban on racing was a big help. The prospect of another big football season has been another cheering factor, since no one can say what 1943 has to offer in any sporting field.

Such able coaches as Jeff Cravath of Southern California and Babe Horrell of U. C. L. A. are looking for a duplicate of the 1941 campaign, saying any one of five teams has a good chance to finish on top in the Pacific Coast Conference.

"I can't see much difference among at least half a dozen teams," Cravath said. "Pest Welch has a fine first team at Washington, but it also takes strong replacements to keep going out here with so many games to face."

"Take my case at U. S. C. We open with Tulane, jump to Seattle for a hard Washington game, and then jump to Columbus against Ohio State. After that we get no recess of any sort but we are all in the same boat, so there's no squawk coming."

Naval Cadet Teams
You'll find all along the route from the Far West to the Atlantic that all coaches are beginning to worry more about the naval cadet teams—teams that might be stronger than many once believed. The combination of Sam Barry and Tex Oliver at St. Mary's Pre-Flight School is hoping to mop up the Pacific shore line, and this can happen. The Midwest feels the same way about Bernie Bierman's Iowa outfit. And both the East and the South are looking for trouble against North Carolina and Georgia cadet teams which have been conditioned for an all-out party at every start.

These cadet teams will be trained to the limit, and they are all packed with fighting spirit and the will to go through or over. When they get together among themselves you can gamble the field will be knee deep in fur.

We found California looking eagerly in the direction of Louise Brough at Forest Hills. California's tennis mastery on the feminine side has been phenomenal. They look back to May Sutton Bundy, Mary K. Browne, Helen Wills, Helen Jacobs and Alice Marble, to mention only a few.

They all expect Miss Brough, with a bit more experience, to be on a par with the better champions of the past. Power is an important factor in California play and Miss Brough has more than her share of this ingredient.

When you see the number of young girls playing tennis on almost every open court, California's grip on the tennis championship heights is easy to understand. Most of these get sound instruction, a leading factor in any game. And they have the chance to play in twelve months of sunshine, barring a few winter freshets.

The war has practically wrecked the male side in a tennis way. But the women are working as hard as ever to keep California on top. Outdoor activity all the year around has shown its winning effects.

Williams Stars As Sox Win Two

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Ted Williams thumping bat kept the Boston Red Sox firmly on the victory path today as they swept a doubleheader from Detroit, 3 to 1, and 4 to 2, stretching their month-long spurt to 22 victories in their last 26 games.

Williams blasted across four runs in the twin bill—all of them important—and raised his runs-batted-in to 121, far ahead of the rest of the field.

He came up in the eighth inning of the opener with the Red Sox trailing 1-0. Williams whacked the first pitch into the right field stands for his twenty-eighth home run, tying the score—and with that inspiration Boston won out in the ninth.

Bobby Doerr, doubled, Jim Tabor sacrificed him to third, and both Johnny Peacock and pinch-hitter Joe Cronin were passed intentionally, filling the bases. Dom DiMaggio popped out, but Johnny Pesky went home with the run that gave Charley Wagner his thirteenth victory.

Williams' bat contributed again in the seventh inning of a nightcap pitching duel between Joe Doorn and Hal White. The Sox had a slim 1-to-0 lead when Ted doubled off the left field fence, driving in three runs.

'B' Shift Spinners Win Over 'C' Shift

A single by Charlie Davis in the last of the seventh, with Stallings on third base, broke an 8-8 deadlock and gave the Celanese "B" shift Spinner softball team a 9-8 victory over the "C" Shift outfit this week on the Fort Hill high field.

The "C" crew jumped off to an early lead, scoring three runs in the first and three more in the third to lead 6-3 at the end of three innings of play. Adams and Welbeck each clubbed out two hits for the "C" Shift ten, both of Adams' hits being doubles. Davis, with three singles, was the only "B" Shifter with more than one safety.

The winners, with Dicken pitching the whole game, outthit the losers, 11 to 9. Miller did the chucking for the "C" Shift. The boxscore:

Borowy Holds St. Louis Browns To One Single

Smash Glances off Gordon's Glove; Yankees Capture Doubleheader

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—The New York Yankees provided two big thrills for a mid-week crowd of 26,872 today while sweeping a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns—but at the end the spectators learned one of the sensations was simply an illusion.

Charley Keller brought the fans to their feet with his twenty-fifth home run after two were out in the tenth inning of the first game and gave the World Champions a 3-2 decision.

Then Rookie Hank Borowy mowed down the Browns 5-0 in the second game while many in the crowd thought they were seeing a no-hitter.

Actually a smash by Harland Clift that glanced off second baseman Joe Gordon's glove in the first inning was scored as a single. But the scoreboard at Yankee Stadium does not show whether plays are hits or errors, contrary to the custom at most Major League parks, and as the Browns fell back one by one through the remainder of the contest the fans felt certain they were sitting in on an historic event.

After the final out they poured onto the field shouting jubilantly only to turn their cheers to boos when the St. Louis totals 0-1-2 were posted on the big scoreboard.

Even though it was only (1) a one-hitter, it was Borowy's thirteenth victory against three setbacks, his fourth shutout, and the Yankees' eighteenth of the season equalling a club record set by the 1909 New York Americans, then called the Highlanders.

The first game was a tight struggle between Elden Auker and Spud Chandler, who permitted just six hits and attained his fifteenth triumph. One of the New York runs was Gordon's seventeenth homer.

Missouri U. Fans Are Anticipating Third Bowl Game

Twenty Lettermen Will Return to Tiger Fold for Fall Season

(This is one of a series of 1942 prospects of college football teams.)

By FRANK HOOD
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 2 (AP)—Those fretful University of Missouri fans start worrying the minute they contemplate the coming football season.

Will the government, they wonder, order cessation of this year's post-season grid classics before the mighty Tigers get an opportunity to participate in their third bowl game in four years?

About the only person in Tiger-town who isn't prematurely bowl conscious is Don ("T" Formation) Paurot the Missouri coach who clings to the belief his pupils should concentrate on the twelve tough games of the regular schedule before writing for holiday travel brochures.

Most of the optimism at Columbia is caused by the knowledge that the Tigers retain 20 lettermen from last fall's squad which coasted to the big six title, amassing more than 150 points while conference opponents were tallying 19. In outside contests Missouri whipped Colorado, Michigan State and New York University, and dropped close decisions to Ohio State and Fordham—the latter a 2 to 0 affair in the Sugar Bowl.

Paurot who has guided Missouri to two Big Six championships, Orange and Sugar bowl engagements in the last three years, scans the 1942 roster and in totally non-committal fashion declares: "Things look pretty fair right now, but then you never can tell what might happen."

The Tiger losses include scamping Harry Ice, diminutive tailback; Bob Jefferies, a guard standout in the recent Chicago All-Star Game, and Darold Jenkins, one of the best centers of 1941.

Returning are seven letter backs, four ends, four tackles, four guards and one center. These old hands are backed by a capable group of reserves and a sparkling of fine sophomores.

The rest of the veterans can be alternated or substituted as units with no impairment of strength.

The secondary corps may have three claimants to national honors. They are Bob Steuber, 190-pound senior halfback and sprinter; Capt. Don (Hull) Reece, shortest-distance, straight-line fullback theorist, and Maurice (Red) Wade, elusive junior halfback who passes and kicks with

Walter Halas Will Aid Shaughnessy

Drexel Institute Mentor Is Named Assistant Coach at Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 2 (AP)—The University of Maryland Department of Physical Education today announced that Walter Halas, football coach for fifteen years at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, had been appointed assistant football coach.

Halas, a brother of George Halas, owner-coach of the Professional Champion Chicago Bears, arrived on the campus today. He is expected to take over the Freshman football reins later.

Halas graduated from the University of Illinois in 1916, helped Knute Rockne at Notre Dame for three years and went from there to Mt. St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, Md., before going to Drexel.

He was with Clark Shaughnessy, Maryland head coach, for the past three weeks at the Chicago Bears Wisconsin camp, talking things over.

"I'm tickled to death to be with Shaughnessy," Halas said. Halas is considered an expert on the "T" formation in his own right. The university also announced that the Chicago Bears would prepare for their game with the Washington Redskins in the Capital city, Sept. 15, on the Old Liners grounds. They are to arrive next Monday, following their game in Pittsburgh with the Steelers.

Coach George Halas is to drill his pro championship in the mornings. No joint Bears-Maryland rehearsals have been planned.

Allegany High School Will Begin Football Practice This Morning

Coach Herman Ball Calls Meeting of All Candidates for 9 o'Clock

Candidates for Allegany high school's 1942 football team will report to Coach Herman Ball, this morning at 9 o'clock when plans for preliminary training will be mapped out.

Nine boys who played on the "A" team last spring in the practice drills are expected to report to the Allegany mentor this morning. They are: Linwood Robinette, center; Milnor Oswald, and Van Teter, guards; John Gordon, tackle; "Bud" Wolford and Carl Hammersmith, ends; Don Snyder, quarterback; Jack Smith, halfback and Charlie Kellogg, fullback.

Newcomers on the "A" team, who were reserves last season, are Dick Anderson, halfback and Wilbur Hull, a tackle. Boys who played on the "B" team last spring and who are expected to fight for varsity positions this fall are, Robert Lloyd, center; John "Red" Sloan and Frank Vandegrift, guards; William Darrow and Herb Armstrong, tackles; Ray Taylor and Paul Faudle, ends; Bill Raupach, Ronald Kellough, Bill Williams and Jimmy Hines, backfield.

Ball indicated during spring practice that the "T" formation, introduced and employed so successfully last fall with Milton Athey in the quarterback key spot, will be retained this season if at all possible. Athey was graduated with the 1942 class and Snyder, who handled the fullback position in 1941, was switched to the quarterback post. Snyder proved adequate in the new role but at the close of drills Ball was not satisfied with the work of fullback candidates.

"Snyder remains our best fullback prospect," Ball said yesterday in reviewing the outlook, "and is also the only boy to measure up to quarterback requirements. Our main job during the next several weeks will be to find either a fullback or a better quarterback prospect than Snyder."

"I don't believe we can afford to sacrifice Snyder's budding talent just to retain the "T" formation. If I find we do not have the material to make the "T" effective we will change to another system."

Cardinals Permanent Drive Halted by Giants

Red Birds Drop Another Game Behind Dodgers

Four St. Louis Pitchers Are Nicked for 14 Hits and Eight Runs

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—The New York Giants, who have no interest in helping the Brooklyn Dodgers, nevertheless put in an important lick for their crusty rivals today by overpowering the St. Louis Cardinals 8 to 2 to drop the Redbirds 4½ games behind the National League leaders.

The hard-hitting Giants pummeled four St. Louis hurlers for 14 hits and took charge of the game in the third inning when Babe Young doubled with the bases loaded—and unloaded them.

Starting Pitcher Max Lanier was driven off the mound in the next frame when the Giants added two more runs. Afterward Murray Dickson, Howard Kist and Harry Gumbert shared the punishment.

Johnny Mize, whom the Cards traded to New York last winter, had a perfect day at the plate with three hits and two walks.

White Sox Take 2 from Senators

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox rained base blows all over the lot and capitalized on Washington errors to sweep a doubleheader with the Senators, 2 to 0 and 7 to 6, today.

Buck Ross scattered Washington's eight blows effectively in the opener while his mates were pounding Early Wynn and Bill Trotter for 17 safeties. The Senators kicked the ball around for six errors.

In the nightcap, the Sox hopped on Rookie Lou Bevil, just up from Chattanooga, for four scores before he was relieved by Bill Zuber with one out in the first. Zuber held the Sox under control until the sixth, when three singles and a walk brought in two runs.

The Senators staged a three run uprising in the ninth and had the tying and winning runs on base when the Sox ended the hostilities with a fast double play.

LENGTH VS. STRENGTH
REPEATED bids of the same suit by your partner show greater length in the suit. But at the same time each additional bid of it, except a jump, indicates the probability of less honor strength in the hand. For the more distributive strength a player has, the less honor power he requires. Consequently, when he rebids the same suit a couple of times, thereby disclosing at least six-card length, you had better be wary about raising him unless you can furnish enough honor strength to make up for his probable weakness in top cards.

South never should have tried that last bid of 4-Spades, unless he had eaten more than his usual number of eggs at breakfast and felt both strong and lucky, or unless he thought he could count on his opponents to help him out. He explained that, when he heard North bid spades for the third time, he knew the suit was at least six cards and so his own two would constitute safe support. That was true, but the third spade bid also indicated that length of the suit was the main excuse for making the first free bid.

After East led the diamond Q, which West covered with the K, North saw a long chance to make his contract, and tried it. Taking the first trick with the diamond A, he then scored three top clubs, discarding the diamond 4 and 5, then led the club 7, which by now was the highest out. West was tempted to ruff with his K, but thought better of it. Had he done so, North could have discarded the diamond 6, and would have made his contract, losing only two more tricks, to the spade A and heart A. West did not fall for the ruse, however. He ruffed instead with the spade 2. North over-ruffed, but then was set pronto. When he led the heart 3 to the K, West put on the A, scored his diamond J and spade K, and the spade A still remained out as the setting trick.

Orr Probes Return Of Confiscated Slot Machines

Wants To Know Why They Were Taken from Police Station

A recommendation issued by an Allegany county grand jury on April 23, 1934, providing that gaming devices confiscated by the police department "shall be immediately destroyed by such methods as may seem most feasible, by and under the chief of police," was produced yesterday by James Orr, police and fire commissioner, as proof of the legality of the action in the seizure of two slot machines valued at $700 last Friday night at the Colonial Tavern, 707 Greene street.

Proprietor Is Fined

William H. "Red" Miller, proprietor of the tavern, at which the two machines, a tip board and one quart of whiskey were confiscated by four city patrolmen, was fined $20 in police court Tuesday morning on a charge of having gaming devices in his possession, a violation of Ordinance No. 1505.

The police magistrate, Orr said, however, ordered that the machines be returned to Miller after the latter paid his fine.

Commissioner Orr contacted Desk Sgt. L. E. Meister at 10:30 a. m., Tuesday and inquired as to the disposition of the case and was immediately advised what had occurred at the hearing.

Machines Are Removed

"Where are the machines?" Orr inquired.

Sgt. Meister told the commissioner that the machines were removed from the sound-proof cell at the police station and it was his understanding that they were taken to a North Mechanic street address.

"What kind of monkey business is that?" Orr was heard to remark as he hung up the receiver and started to conduct an immediate investigation into the matter.

Orr received a telephone call Tuesday night. It was from Miller's attorney. The latter wanted to know what all of the trouble was about.

"Trouble," Orr replied, "why there's going to be plenty of trouble if those machines are not returned to the police station where they belong."

Reads Grand Jury Order

The police commissioner then read to the attorney the grand jury edict pertaining to the police department's seizure of gaming devices, which incidentally was issued eight years ago during the administration of the late Harry W. Matheny, police and fire commissioner.

Here's the wording of the order:

"That in accordance with the recommendations of the Grand Jury for the State of Maryland, for the body of Allegany county, with reference to gaming devices, all such gaming devices confiscated by the Department of Police in the enforcement of the law shall be immediately destroyed by such methods as may seem most feasible, by and under the direction of the chief of police, so that said gaming devices cannot be used again as such; provided, that nothing in this order shall require the destroying of any gaming devices that may be needed for evidence in the prosecution against operators or owners of said gaming devices."

Gaming Devices Return

The slot machines were returned to the police station yesterday at 4:10 p. m. Who returned them? That's the question Orr is unable to answer.

The police commissioner now is conducting an investigation to determine why the machines were removed from the police station, who ordered them removed and why they were not held for evidence in case of an appeal.

Orr gave assurance that after ten days the machines will be knocked to smithereens with a heavy sledge hammer. "We always take a picture before and after such an operation," the commissioner concluded.

FIRMAN QUILTS JOB AFTER 18 YEAR'S SERVICE TO JOIN NAVY

W. Edward Jenkins, 633 Lincoln street, a member of the Cumberland Fire Department for the past eighteen years, has left the department to join the United States Navy.

Jenkins, mechanic for the department, notified James Orr, commissioner of police and fire, Tuesday of his decision to join the service and on Wednesday was sent to the Baltimore induction station of the navy.

Chief Petty Officer George J. Carroll, local recruiter who enlisted Jenkins, said if he successfully completed examinations in Baltimore yesterday he will be sent to a naval training station, probably at Norfolk, Va.

Jenkins is the first member of the fire department to join the service.

Driver Is Fined

Ralph Anderson Michaels, of Route 2, this city, was fined $2 and costs yesterday in trial magistrates court on a charge of operating a vehicle weighing over three tons at more than forty miles an hour. He was arrested in LaVale by Trooper M. Frank Beamer.

Gateway Charter

In a few weeks, thousands of Maryland boys and girls will be returning to their schools. Maryland is generous with its educational opportunities but do all of its citizens take advantage of them. How many people realize that at Overlea, just seven miles from the center of Baltimore, is situated one of the finest schools of the blind in this country?

The Maryland School for the Blind is a boarding school, conducted on the cottage family plan, there being a cottage for the younger boys, one for the older boys, one for the younger girls and one for the older girls, in each of which is a house-mother, housekeeper, cook and several teachers.

If the parents cannot afford to pay, the school provides free education for children of Maryland and the District of Columbia who have defective eye sight and cannot progress satisfactorily in the public schools. Tuition, board, room and laundry, medicine and medical attendance, books and all other appliances necessary for the education are furnished.

Children may enter at the age of five, in order to attend the kindergarten. The educational program cares for the child's needs through the first ten years of his academic training. The last two years of his high school course is generally obtained at one of the high schools in Baltimore.

The grounds are spacious and beautiful. Some is in woodland but a good portion of the 100 acres is given over to the raising of vegetables and fruits which add much to the well balanced meals served the pupils.

At one end of the grounds are the buildings for the Department of Colored Blind and Deaf. The same opportunities are given these pupils with additional training in shoe repairing, pressing, laundry, etc. which are trades open to the deaf.

If anyone knows of blind or deaf children who are not attending school, write Francis M. Andrews, Superintendent of the Maryland School for the Blind, Overlea, Md. Visitors are always welcome at the school.

Suit Filed Here Over Estate of Frank J. Custer

Would Restrain Defendants from Drawing Funds from Local Bank

Ella Michael and Clementine Michael filed suit in circuit court yesterday against Mrs. Mahala Green and the First National Bank of Cumberland asking the court to restrain the defendants from drawing or issuing any funds held in the bank for the late Frank J. Custer.

The bill of complaint states Custer died June 14, 1942, in Garrett county and the plaintiffs were named administratrixes of his will. At the time of his death a joint bank account of $1,237.73 was on deposit at the First National Bank in the name of Custer and Mrs. Green which was "payable to either of them or the survivor."

Withdrew Money in June

The bill states that Mrs. Green withdrew the whole sum on June 17, three days after Custer's death. The bill further states another joint account in the sum of $1,207.85 which was designated for "Frank J. Custer in trust for Custer and Mahala Green, joint owners, subject to the order of Frank J. Custer balance at death to the survivor."

Mrs. Green allegedly went to the First National Bank to withdraw the second account on June 18 but the bank refused to pay her the money. The plaintiffs in their bill of complaint state Custer had been living alone in his Garrett county home, near Barton, doing his own housekeeping and the money in the two bank accounts had been received by him from his father's estate and was not due to his industry.

Accounts Changed

Prior to January 28, 1942, the bill states the two accounts were in the name of Frank J. Custer but Mrs. Green had allegedly influenced Custer into changing over the accounts into joint ones. The bill also states that Custer was impaired mentally and the monies were the sole property of the estate.

The court was asked to grant the restraining order and grant any other relief which is needed. Associate Judge William A. Huster signed papers restraining Mrs. Green from withdrawing or the bank from issuing any of the money. Horace P. Whitworth, attorney, represents the plaintiffs.

KILLED—Harold E. "Shine" Boor, 30, former well known local baseball player, was killed last week "somewhere in the Southwest Pacific" when he was struck by an airplane propeller, according to word received from the War department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell C. Boor, Bedford road. Boor enlisted in the air corps as a mechanic on March 15, 1941, and had been stationed in the Pacific for the past five months. He was an outfielder of note and played for Corriganville, Frostburg and Cumberland teams in recent years. ## Gas Supply Must Last for Period, Barnard Declares

Warns Drivers Against Using Up Rations in Less Than the Proper Time

No extra gasoline will be issued to any person who has used up his original rations in less than the proper time, Robert E. Barnard, chairman of War Price and Rationing Board No. 1-1, announced yesterday.

Barnard stressed that this applies to everyone including defense workers, salesmen, maintenance men and anyone else.

Most supplementary ration books have been issued for a three months' period, of which only a little over one month has expired. Drivers should now have practically two months' supply of gas, and they must make their supplies last until that period has expired, for no additional gas will be issued.

The local board chairman said that ample public notice was given when additional ration books were issued, that those rations would have to last the full period, and if anyone has wasted his gas in unauthorized driving, he will have to suffer; otherwise, the board would be rewarding the unpatriotic at the expense of those who are doing their duty.

Members of the board realize that some wasters may use up their gas and that their inability to drive to work may cause inconvenience. But in the long run production will be increased, and public confidence in rationing will be improved more by supporting those who use their gasoline carefully and legitimately than by rewarding those who waste it.

James filed in an automobile during the excitement but the car careened from the road three miles south of Hyndman and overturned and Jones was taken in custody before he got away.

DIESEL FREIGHT TRAIN REACHES BALTIMORE AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad announced today that the first freight train drawn by a Diesel locomotive in regular freight service in the east pulled into Twin Oaks, Pa., last night from Chicago twenty minutes ahead of schedule.

The 5,400-horsepower engine pulled one of the heaviest oil shipments on record, the B. and O. statement said. The train consisted of eighty-one tank cars loaded with 115,000 gallons of oil.

The 911-mile trip required only five stops for crew changes and routine inspection.

The B. and O. claimed the locomotive, which it said was tested over 83,000 miles of track being placed in use, was capable of more work per ton of steel than any comparable steam locomotive.

The locomotive is 193 feet long, and is made up of four short power cars each containing a sixteen-cylinder Diesel engine.

Old Steam Roller May Now Be on Its Way to Tokyo or Berlin

At least one citizen in the Allegany Grove section probably feels that he or she has done a good deed, and rightfully so, by calling attention to the old steam roller that had been abandoned in that section. Anyway, the steam roller has finally been added to the nation's metal scrap pile and should soon be on its way to Tokyo or some other "equally popular" spot in the form of bombs.

County commissioners received a letter several weeks ago from a metal-minded citizen urging that it had already been sold to a junk dealer, and notified him to move it.

The junk dealer did, after offering the alibi, "I've been so busy moving all kinds of junk, I almost forgot about it."

Federal Charges Placed against Two Local Men

Jones and Robinson Held for Burglary of Hyndman Post Office

Federal charges of burglary of a United States post office have been entered against Carl Lee Jones, white, 1018 Ella avenue, and Andrew Robinson, negro, 1006 Grape alley, arrested Tuesday morning a short time after the Hyndman, Pa., post office had been entered.

Sheriff D. E. Calhoun, of Bedford county, Pa., said both men have signed confessions. He added that charges of burglary and breaking and entering the post office, entered by Police Chief Emory Shaffer, Hyndman, will be dropped.

Held without Bond

Both Jones and Robinson are held without bond and were moved from Bedford to the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon to await a preliminary hearing before a United States Commissioner, Calhoun said. No date has been set for the hearing.

If evidence at the preliminary hearing warrants, the men will be held for action of a federal grand jury. Bond will not be set before that is determined.

Robinson was discharged yesterday afternoon from Timmons hospital, Bedford, where he had been under police guard while receiving treatment for shotgun wounds of his right leg, suffered when Albert Bruner, a Hyndman merchant, shot him when he tried to escape after climbing from a post office window.
